“This is what is written and so it must be: The Christ will suffer and rise from the dead on the third day, and repentance and forgiveness of sins will be preached in his name to all nations....” Luke 24:46-47

The upper room had started out as a place of fear and despair. Having seen their Teacher arrested, convicted, and crucified, the apostles withdrew to what they hoped would be a secure hiding place. Behind locked doors, they sat in fatalistic wonder at what their lives would now be. The hoped for Messiah was dead. He had raised others from death, but no great prophet had ever raised himself from death. Fear crippled them as they anticipated their own arrest and execution. It was better to lay low and wait for the upheaval to die down. Then perhaps they could slip away into the cover of the crowds leaving Jerusalem.

The upper room soon became a place of peace and promise. Jesus appeared to the disciples announcing the peace of God to them. He placated their need for proof that it was He by having them touch the nail marks and His wounded side. He ate fish and honey to show that He had risen bodily and that He was no mere ghost. He was not dead. He had risen from the grave. He had, as He had claimed so often in His ministry, mastery over death.

Jesus then opened the Scripture to them. Through the law of Moses, the writings of the prophets, and the lyrics of the psalmists, Jesus brought His disciples the true and lasting proof they really needed. He showed them beyond a shadow of a doubt that He had to suffer and die and rise from the dead on the third day. And as the Holy Spirit worked through His proclamation, the disciples stopped their doubting and their unbelief. They believed and confessed and would witness to others the fact that Jesus has risen from the dead.

The upper room became a place of purpose. The disciples were not to hide their joy in the resurrection. Jesus wanted their joy to compel them to action. They were to continue the work of the prophet John the Baptist. They were to continue to preach repentance. They were to continue to expose the sin in the lives of all people and in doing so create the emptiness that needs to be filled. Then, they were to continue to preach the gospel, to teach all that their sins are forgiven, that their risen Lord has covered them with His blood, that through faith they are righteous before God. This is the only truth that would fill the emptiness.

The upper room becomes a place of promise and peace and purpose for us as well. As we hear the testimony of the gospel writers about what happened in that upper room almost 2000 years ago, we, too, have the promise that Christ is risen. He is risen indeed! We, too, have peace with God the Father because of the sacrifice of Christ. We, too, have a purpose. We are to continue the work of preaching repentance and the forgiveness of sins to the ends of the earth. We have been blessed. Let us bless others by sharing Jesus.

Welcome back to A Step Beyond, our brief Bible study based upon the readings used for service at Immanuel Lutheran Church for this week's worship service on April 14, Third Sunday in Easter. Our theme for this study is God's Word Testifies to the Truth of the Resurrection.

Acts 3:11-20: Through Jesus, faith restores us to eternal life.

- God had worked through Peter to heal a man who had been lame from birth. In the name of Jesus Christ the man's legs and ankles were made strong. He got up and walked to the amazement of all in the temple. The people stared at Peter and John as if they had healed this man.
- After Pentecost, Peter had gained boldness through the work of the Holy Spirit. How does this newly received boldness show itself in this account?
  - Peter accuses the people in the temple of handing Jesus over to the soldiers and disowning Him in front of Pilate asking instead that Barabbas be released.
- Though the people called for the death of Jesus, what had been the end result?
  - God had raised Jesus, the Author of Life, from the dead.
  - Peter assures them that he had witnessed the resurrected Lord.
- What does Peter credit for healing this man?
  - Faith that comes through Jesus Christ.
- What is Peter's hope for the people that called for Jesus' crucifixion?
  - Peter hopes they will no longer live in ignorance but come to faith and repent.
  - Peter hopes that eternal life, times of refreshing, will be theirs.

1 John 1:5-2:2: John calls for people to worship the Lord in truth.

- What does John mean when he says that God is light?
  - God is holy and perfect. He is never evil. He is truth.
- What happens if we choose to purposefully pursue sin?
  - We no longer had fellowship with God.
  - We do not live in the truth.
- What happens instead if we walk in the light, in God's truth?
  - We have fellowship with God through His Son Jesus Christ.
  - The blood of Christ will cleanse us from all of our unrighteousness.
- Why should we not fear confessing our sin before God?
  - All have sinned and have fallen short of the glory of God.
  - Christ is our advocate before God. He points to His own blood which covers our sin.

Luke 24:36-49: Jesus uses God's Word to prove the necessity of His death and resurrection.

- In their joy, the disciples in the upper room were still not sure they had seen the risen Lord. What proofs did Jesus offer to them of His rising bodily from the grave?
  - He had them touch his crucifixion wounds.
  - He had them bring Him some broiled fish and honeycomb to eat.
- How does Jesus explain His death and resurrection to them?
  - They were the fulfillment of prophecies found in the law of Moses, the writings of the prophets, and the psalms.
- What was Jesus' most convincing proof of the resurrection?
  - Jesus opened up the Scriptures to the disciples so that they would believe.
- What work lay ahead for Jesus' disciples and for us as His modern day disciples?
  - To preach repentance and the forgiveness of sins through His redemptive work.
